Student Questionnaire

Randomly select 2 female students and 2 male students (4 in total). For Primary level, aim to pick students from year 6 and up (upper primary) and in secondary from Secondary 2 and up. In single-sex schools, just pick 4 students of the same sex from these upper grade levels.

Enumerator/researcher introduction:

Hello, my name is ________________ and I am here today on behalf of UNICEF to carry out a study for the “Safe to Learn” global initiative, which aims to measure the quality of national efforts to reduce violence in schools. I will be asking questions about whether certain standards exist, but please note that this is not a test, either of you or of your school. Rather, the results of this study are meant to help by providing guidance on how to make schools safer for learning. So please be honest with your answers, nobody is judged.

Your participation in this research is confidential and I will not take your name or share information about you. If you would not like me to note your grade level or name of your school, Please let me know. Your participation is also voluntary. If you do not wish to answer a question or if you feel uncomfortable, we can stop the interview at any time. Overall, this interview is set to take approximately 40 minutes.

Please note that I will not ask you about any examples of violence towards yourself or another student, but if you provide such information, I may be legally required to report it to the school.

Do you have any questions and can we commence the interview now? Again, there are no right or wrong responses, so please be honest with your answers.
